Biography

Aisha Haque is a Language and Communication Instructor at Western University’s Teaching Support Centre. Her work focuses on helping international teaching assistants improve their teaching and cross-cultural communication skills, and she also teaches courses on Bollywood Cinema at Fanshawe College. Drawing on her background in postcolonial studies, she is co-authoring a Western Purple Guide on teaching international students. Her current research explores intercultural teaching competence and discipline-specific approaches to TA training. Aisha recently co-edited the 2015 special issue of the Canadian Journal of Higher Education on teaching preparation for graduate students and previously served on the executive committee of the Teaching Assistant and Graduate Student Advancement (TAGSA) special interest group of the STLHE (2014-2016).
