EDUC 5424
Teaching for Equity and Social Justice

Instructor:
Dr. Jennifer Ingrey (she/her)
(Section 001)
E: jingrey2@uwo.ca
Office Hours: by appointment

Schedule:
Tuesdays, 10:30 am – 12:30 pm, Room 2035 (plus one hour asynchronous per week)

Program Context:
This is an elective course taken by Teacher Candidates in any stream except the Urban Schools cohort during the second year for both terms of the Bachelor of Education.
Teaching for Equity & Social Justice (EDUC 5424)

Course Description: A focus on issues of equity - race, culture, religion, gender, social class, sexuality, and disability - in education. Critical analysis of school curricula and classroom practice. Development of teaching strategies appropriate for an increasingly diverse and heterogeneous student population. 3 hours per week, full year, .5 credit.

Aims, Goals, Objectives, Outcomes: The main objective of this course is to make participants familiar with issues of inequities such as race, culture, religion, gender, social class and sexuality in education. It examines the meaning of equity and social justice within the context of multiculturalism in the public education system in Ontario. More specifically, the course will provide participants with opportunities to critically examine current school curriculum, policy and classroom practices and develop strategies for an equitable and inclusive curriculum. Curriculum units are examined for their relevance in a society that is increasingly characterized with diversity and heterogeneity of its student population.

Standards of Practice for the teaching profession: All five of the key elements in the Ontario College of Teachers Standards of Practice are integral to this course:
• COMMITMENT TO STUDENTS AND STUDENT LEARNING is integral to this course. This course examines factors and characteristics that enhance learning in cross-cultural settings. More importantly, pedagogical strategies that address distortions in thinking about race, cultural differences, sexual orientation and gender are explored.
• PROFESSIONAL KNOWLEDGE relating to cultural diversity and education (both in Canada and in Ontario) is examined. An important component will be the evolution of equity policy, and students will have an opportunity to challenge significant decisions made over time.
• TEACHING PRACTICE and the exercise of professional judgement are a vital component of the course. Students will investigate how cultural, racial and gender disparities in the classroom and in the school may be addressed in order to enrich the schooling experience and enhance learning and cooperation rather than serve as a basis for conflict.

- LEADERSHIP AND COMMUNITY is stressed in those components of the course in which students themselves might become change agents through their commitment to equity ideals.
- The Necessity for ONGOING PROFESSIONAL LEARNING is established throughout the course. Participants learn that the cross-cultural approach provides a reservoir for effectiveness in the teaching-learning experiences, that professional recognition of this medium is belated, and that further explorations are required. In particular, teacher candidates will learn that Canada is at the threshold of a new and necessary approach to education.

<td>In this paper, you should focus on either a particular equity issue or a range of equity issues that are relevant for your future practice and/or current interest. You must make explicit references to readings, etc. but you must show a practical example of how you could implement a particular aspect of the topic in your own classroom, school, or school community. Choose an artefact to help you explain this application. You reflection component explains the artefact but also considers the challenges, limitations, and possibilities of implementing the application in your own practice. Your paper should be between 6-8 pages (2000-2500 words including references), double-spaced and typed. Please input no fewer than THREE references where AT LEAST TWO are from the course and AT LEAST ONE is from your own research.</td>

How to Protect Your Professional Integrity:

The Bachelor of Education is an intense and demanding program of professional preparation. Teacher Candidates are expected to demonstrate high levels of academic commitment and professional integrity that align with both Western University's Academic Rights and Responsibilities and the Professional Standards and Ethical Standards set by the Ontario College of Teachers. These expectations govern your time in class, in your Practicum, in your Alternative Field Experiences, and include the appropriate use of technology and social media.

The Teacher Education Office will only recommend teacher candidates for Ontario College of Teachers certification when candidates have demonstrated the knowledge of, and adherence to, the faculty polices throughout the two-year program.

To review the policies and practices that govern the Teacher Education program, including attendance, plagiarism, progression requirements, safe campus and more, visit: edu.uwo.ca/CSW/my-program/BEd/policies.html

Faculty of Education Pass/Fail Policy:

All courses and assignments in the Bachelor of Education are assessed as Pass/Fail.

Instructors will make the Success Criteria of the assignments clear, and refinements of the criteria may take place in class as a means of co-constructing details of the assignments in the first two weeks of a course. This will allow for differentiation of process, product and timeline depending upon student needs.

Success Criteria will

- Articulate what needs to occur to demonstrate learning outcomes for a course/assignment;
- Inform the instructional process so that teaching can be adapted to ensure students continue to remain on track to meet the criteria as needed and appropriate.
- Align with the assignments created to provide opportunities for students to demonstrate the knowledge, skills and abilities they are working toward;
- Establish clear descriptive language that allows Teacher Candidates to identify, clarify and apply the criteria to their work and to their engagement in peer feedback;
- Focus the feedback on progress toward meeting the overall and specific tasks/assignment goals for the course.

Participation

Participation is essential to success in the Teacher Education program. As a professional school, you need to treat coming to class as showing up for work in the profession. If you are not in class, you cannot participate. Actively participating in discussions, peer reviews/feedback, group work and activities is integral to the development of your own learning and to the learning within your classroom community.

Given the varied experiences of Teacher Candidates in the program, you may engage with ideas/concepts or skills that are familiar or unfamiliar to you.
A Professional Teacher Candidate is one who:

- Arrives in class (virtual or on-site) on time, and prepared. This includes completing any readings, viewing assignments or tasks in advance of class as requested.
- Listens to others and contributes thoughtfully to discussions;
- Models respectful dialogue and openness to learn, monitors, self-assesses and reformulates one’s prior beliefs and understandings in light of new information;
- Monitors and addresses their wellness, practices self-care, and seeks appropriate support when necessary.
