

Western Education

Friday November 8th

Faculty of Education

Room 1010 1:30-2:30 p.m.

Refreshments provided

Teacher education in Norway with a focus on Telemark University College

Supported by narratives, images and video from the daily life at teacher education institutions in Norway, Dr. Sørenbø Gulliksen's presentation will provide an overview of teacher's college in Norway today: the types of teacher education programs offered and how they are structured within the education system. In particular she will discuss the unique positioning of arts and crafts education for subject teachers at Telemark University College as well as the importance of hands-on learning in concurrent teacher education. Drawing from the recent literature and her post-doctoral research, Dr. Sørenbø Gulliksen will explore some of the main challenges that colleagues at her institution encounter when they plan and deliver this form of teacher education

Presented by the Human Ingenuity Research Group www.edu.uwo.ca/HIRG
in partnership with RICE (Researching International and Comparative Education)