Motivating Adolescent Readers

What Can You Do?

Develop a Good Rapport with Students
(Pressley, Roehrig, Bogner, Raphael, & Dolezal, 2002)

Integrate Technology
(Doepker & Ortlieb, 2011; Marchand-Martella, Martella, Modderman, Petersen, & Pan, 2013)

Choose Interesting Materials
(Doepker & Ortlieb, 2011; Gallagher, 2003)

Deliver Content Using Interesting Formats
(Doepker & Ortlieb, 2011)

Present Choices
(Doepker & Ortlieb, 2011; Gallagher, 2003; Marchand-Martella, Martella, Modderman, Petersen, & Pan, 2013)

Offer Opportunities for Success
(Doepker & Ortlieb, 2011)

Discourage Competition
(Pressley, Roehrig, Bogner, Raphael, & Dolezal, 2002)

Teach Comprehension Explicitly
(Marchand-Martella, Martella, Modderman, Petersen, & Pan, 2013)

Collaborate with other Teachers and Parents
(Marchand-Martella, Martella, Modderman, Petersen, & Pan, 2013)

Model an Appreciation of Reading
(Gallagher, 2003)

Provide an Opportunity to Read
(Gallagher, 2003)

Expect High Quality Work
(Pressley, Roehrig, Bogner, Raphael, & Dolezal, 2002)

Make Cross-curricular Connections
(Pressley, Roehrig, Bogner, Raphael, & Dolezal, 2002)

Adolescent Literacy Instruction Includes:
(Marchand-Martella, Martella, Modderman, Petersen, & Pan, 2013)

Fluency
Vocabulary
Comprehension
Motivation
Word Study

References